[tofacitinib]
5 mg and 10 mg tablets

Available by prescription only.

SCROLL FOR IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION & INDICATION

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION

XELJANZ may cause serious side effects, including:

Serious infections. XELJANZ can lower the ability of your immune system to fight infections. Some people can have serious infections while taking XELJANZ, including tuberculosis (TB), and infections caused by bacteria, fungi, or viruses that can spread throughout the body. Some people have died from these infections.

- Your healthcare provider should test you for TB before starting and during XELJANZ treatment, and monitor you closely for signs and symptoms of TB infection during treatment.

You should not start taking XELJANZ if you have any kind of infection unless your healthcare provider tells you it is okay. You may be at a higher risk of developing shingles (herpes zoster). People taking the higher dose (10 mg twice daily) of XELJANZ have a higher risk of serious infections and shingles.

Before starting XELJANZ, tell your healthcare provider if you:

think you have an infection or have symptoms of an infection.
